

LAW5013 Formative Assignment Question 2025-26

Students will have the opportunity to submit an essay plan in response to one of the summative essay questions for this course.

This essay plan should be no longer than 500 words and should include:

- A 'thesis statement' which addresses the question you have chosen. You may wish to frame this around e.g., whether you agree or disagree with the premise of the essay question, and why (and perhaps, how you would defend your position).
- A plan for the structure of the essay, with indicative section headings and details of what the section of the essay will cover.
- A list of sources (primary and secondary) which you would intend to use.
- Additionally, you can identify one secondary source (e.g., academic commentary or article) that you think is of particularly good quality and relevant for your essay. Explain briefly how you will use this in your essay.

This formative assignment is due by 11 March 2026, 4pm. Extensions are not typically granted for formative assignments.

Please be advised that formative assignments are ungraded and entirely voluntary. The completion of this assignment does not contribute towards your overall grade for the course. However, if you submit the formative assignment, you will receive written feedback intended to improve your performance for the summative essay.
